I thought within myself we'd rue it:
You within myself we'd rue it:
You will be now we could do it.
My life has since been one of case:
Yo heavy debts, all square and pleasant.
So now I'll take you when you please
And make our pretty house a present.

"Dear Dan," said Mary, "you're a 'brick,'
You've struck my very inmost wishes,
That old stove kind of makes me sick
And now we need some painted dishes;
And everything so luice and cheap;
That old ice-chest won't keep a pickle,
I draam of new ones when I sleep,
And think of our good friend McNichols,
We never care to pack and swarm.

Mand think of our good risend steatches.
We never care to pack and swarm,
To look for mountains, bugs and lichen;
I'd much prefer to siay at home
And if up new from hall to kitchen.

In the House of Commons a scarcely less lively scene took place yesterday. Bradlaugh introduced a motion intended to prevent the members elected at the bye election being recluded from taking their seats immediately Bradlaugh presenting himself at the bar, was not invited by the Speaker to advance to the able. The Government did not at first think Bradlaugh's motion important, and left the Attorney-General to lead the House. In the absence of the Cabinet Ministers, the Attorney-General undertook, on behalf of the stood. The question on which the House was divided was whether or not to go into Committee on Supply, and this was negatived in order that Bradlaugh's motion might be brought forward and carried. The action of Churchill, however, changed the aspect of affairs. The Government were afraid to meet his criticisms respecting their change of front on this question. There was considerable excitement among the members when they hur-ried from the lobbies to vote the second time. Whispered consultations took place and then Smith got up and repudiated the action of his colleague, the Attorney-General, and opposed the motion. Thereupon the Tory majority, obedient to their cue, negatived what, practically, a moment before they had approved.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 12.—The statement made by a morning paper, and which proves to be true, that Mr; T. J. The general understanding has been that the 2 per cent commission allowed to the treasurer by the charter was by agreement waived by the treasurer, who accepted the office without compensation. The Board of Education has a judgment against Bunn for $510 and it is thought that Bunn brings up this claim to head off the other. This Bunn denies. SELLING AT AUCTION.

Terry & Scott on Monday next, commencing at 2:30 p. m., will offer for sale under the auctioneer's hammer ninety-nine residence lots in the East Compton Hill section, a very high and healthful lecality surrounded by the costly residences of many of the most eminent citizens, who have excellent railway facilities for reaching the business center. Lately an associated effort was organized and is now working effectively to make this territory the choicest of the residence pertions of the city.

WATER AND ELECTRICITY.

At 4 o'clock on May 26 Delos R. Haynes & Bro., and Frank Obear will offer nearly one hundred lots in Hamilton place at auction. The property is in new territory, very desirable and close to the 8t. Louis Cable & Western Railway which will commence Monday morning running half-hourly trains carrying passengers at 10 cents for the round trip from Vandeventer avenue to De Hodiamont station near the western line of Hamilton place. A novel feature of the sale, will be the terms, one-fifth cash and the begiance payable in five annual install ments, deferred payments bearing 5 per cent interest. Petitions are now being Egned to have all this portion of the new residence suburbs supplied with city water, and the Water Commissioner is credited with having said the prospects are favorable for laying the mains this season. Another improvement likely to be made in the near future is the electric illumination of all this portion of the West End, which has been built up so extensively during the past two years.

THE FARMER AND THE TARIFF. The farmer is told that the tariff pro tects him by bringing foreign laborer over here to work in our protected mines and factories, thus increasing the home consumption of farm produce and creating a better home market for it. But in spite of the vast increase of our population by immigration in the last ten years, the farmer is painfully conscious of the fact that he is getting less for his beef, less for his pork and less for his grain than he got ten years ago. While his unmarketable surplus is increasing every year, the tariff forces him to pay out of his reduced income more for his transportation and nore for all the necessaries he has to buy. It forces him to buy in a monopoly market and sell in a free-trade market in competition with the pauper labor produce of India and Russia. It forces him to furnish the great bulk of our exports, to bear the whole burden of our foreign trade, to pay the cost of its transis LARGER than that of any other portation both ways to foreign ship-owners. CITIZENS COMPLAIN THAT THE STREET SPRINKLING IS NOT SATISFACTORY.

plaints Have Not Been Numerous and That According to His Information the Work Is Well Done—The Conditions of Street sprinkling has been fairly inaugurated on dear the new special tax ordinance. At the outset a large number of citizens were displeased with the plan. These were the owners and occupants of houses located on numbroved streets and on streets where the owners are consulted in the plan. These were the owners and occupants of houses located on numbroved streets and on streets where the owners are consulted in the list, but if this had been done the tax on inaccessible streets would be so high that it would to offer any advantages over the old system of private contracts and would have been an imposition on sparsely settled localities. Since the sprinkling has been in operation numbers of the contracts and would have been an made against the manner in which the work has been done. The Post-Disparch has been done. The Post-Disparch has been made the recipient of most of these expressions. The dissatisfied citizens will be surprised to learn that the Street Department is of the opinion that the work has so far been satisfactorily done. This morning Street Commissioner Turner was asked if he had received reports from the Street Inspector as to the way in which the work has been done up to date. He said: 'I have received a taxtements. When we receive a complaint concerning the work, we notify the contractor for the district in which the street is located.''

"Ho you consider the sprinkling generally satisfactory?'

"Id oo. Down town, where they had been sprinkling sixteen times, there may be some dissatisfaction.''

"Do you consider the sprinkling senerally satisfactory?'

Thus does the farmer have to bear the brunt of our trade obstruction policy, both as to its direct and indirect effects. Free-trade England, the bete noir of our protectionist orators, is the only foreign Government that gives him a show. She buys our cotton, grain and meat, carries our produce and finds her profit in a vast foreign trade of which our tariff and navigation laws have given her almost a monopoly. Our war tariff period has been about the satisfactoriness of the street sprinkling since the beginning of the present season. "Providence has been doing the work very satisfactorily recently," said he. "We could very well dispense with the other arrangements if we could bind Providence in a contract for the sprinkling season. Since the sprinkling contract or have undertaken the work I have received some few complaints not over a half a dozed, which I sent to the Street Commissioner for his action. When the board was deciding upon the specifications of the contract I was in favor of inserting the condition that the dust should be laid instead of specifying that the streets should be prinkled twice or three times a day. My argument in favor of this was that the requirements of the city were different. One street has a great deal of traffic, and may require twice as many sprinklings and the condition of the contract for the sprinkling season. Since the sprinkling since the beginning of the present season. "Providence has been the providence has been and the could very well dispense with the could very w about the satisfactoriness of the nopoly. Our war tariff period has been the period of England's greatest trade expansion and greatest increase in wealth.

Facts like these are so apparent that the day will be enough for the streets during the hot weather?"

"Well sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. We must wait and see. I did not think three sprinklings a day would be enough for some of the streets. We will know better next year how to word the specifications."

It will be seen that the situation is this. The number of times for sprinkling streets has been fixed, the contracts let on this specification and the bills made out to pay the expense of the same. These conditions cannot be changed while the contracts with the sprinklers are in

The contract further specifies that:

As the sole object of sprinkling consists in preventing dust, and as its assumed that the number of sprinklings enumerated herein, and quartity of water to be used, as herein specified, will accomplish this object, if the streets of the district shall be found generally in a dusty condition, a deduction of one-thirtieth part of the made for every day on which the contractor has failed to lay the dust; or if any street shall be found in a dusty condition, a proportional deduction shall be made, for if any street shall be found in a dusty condition, a proportional deduction shall be made, unless the contractor has given all the streets in the used the quantity of water specified the streets whether the contractor has given the streets the maximum number of sprinklings and used the quantity of water required, shall be determined on the evidence of the superintendent of street sprinkling, or either of his assistants; or on the evidence of a police officer.

McQuade told Mr. Thayer that the published confession of Lillie's sister was utterly false, and that he was anxious to return to Massachusetts and face his accuser before a jury. "But what will it avail me," McQuade said in an excited voice; "my reputation is destroyed forever." The requisition papers were expected to arrive last night, and McQuade, if he wishes, will be taken back at once. If he does not consent to go back he will be taken before the District Attorney to-day.

The crime for which Zeph Davis was executed was committed about 7 o'clook on the morning of February 27, in Green Bros.' factory, his victim being Maggie Gaughan, a pretty little girl about 18 years old. Zeph was employed at the factory, where Maggie also worked, as foreman. He was busy as usual about the place until 4o'clock, when he was sent out on an errand. Just as he left the mangled body of Maggie Gaughan was found in a closet in the rear of the building, concealed by a pille of rays. The body was mutilated in a horrible manner, and by its side was found a hatchet covered with blood. Circumstances all pointed to Davis as the murderer. The same night Davis, though almost the entire police force of Chicago was looking for him, made his escape from town on a freight train. Descriptions of the fugilive were at once wired all over as the our approached Davis was quite caim, and apparently his good night's rest and the religious consolation afforded him stilled his nervousness and gave him courage to meet his death without finching.

Jim Murnane doesn't believe in letting the dead past bury its dead. He makes these unpleasant comparisons in the Boston Globe:

"The battery work of Relly and Clarkson, perhaps as fine as any at the present day, can hardly compare with the brilliant work of Snyder and Bond for the old team. Snyder was a catcher just as tricky as Kelly, and perhaps as fine as any at the present day, can hardly compare with the brilliant work of Snyder and Bond for the old team. doing away with much of the prejudice now existing.

The committee had done the handsomething in the matter of selecting the prizes and arranging the racing events.

The haif mile dash for boys under 14 years will have a silver watch for the prize. The mile dash for novices will have a gold medal for first prize and a silver water set for second. The mile handicap, best two in three heats, will have a silver tea set, six pieces, for first and an antique oak chair for second. The mile dash for boys under 17 will secure a bicycle for the winner and a saddle for the second. The mile run and ride will have "Redpath's History" for first prize.

Frank Neal, alias "Dutchy," and Jim White fought one of the bloodlest glove fights in local history. They were small gloves and hammered each other brutally for fourteen rounds, when the men agreed to a draw, "Dutchy" had the best of it.

Brownlow Sexton and Bob Richardson, "Ten Cents," also fought last night. They used skin gloves, and at the end of the tenth round Sexton was "put to sleep."

Sporting Notes.

Garrison has gone to New York to prepare or the Brooklyn races. Pittsburg Phil claims to have won $8,000 on Brown Charley and Buddhist. The Southern Illinois Sportsman's Association will hold their annual tournament in Eas St. Louis on the 26th, 27th and 28th inst., at the old National Base Ball Park.

Prof. Ivanowitsch De Broskoff, a fencing master from Russia, now in Minneapolis challenges any man in the Northwest to figh with folis for first blood for from $160 to $1,000. Two stallions were sold yesterday at good prices: Redwald, owned by the late T. J. Potter, for $5.000 by business men and farmers of Red Oak, Io., and Leonatus by Longfeliow, for $5,500 by Clay & Woodford of the Runnymede stud.

mede stud.

The thoroughbred owners have many rich prizes to contest for this year. The American Derby, to be run at Washington Park, Chicago, will be worth $17,500, the Shoridan Stake $7,900 and Hyde Park $7,000 to the winner. The Suburban should be worth $9,000; the Lorillard, $13,000; the Junior Champion, $20,000; the Omnibus, $10,000; the Great Eastern, $8,000; the Futurity, $50,000 and many other valuable stakes both in the East and the West.

other valuable stakes both in the East and the West.

"Black and Blue" in the Mail and Express thus talks about favor's chances: "Green Moris' horse Favor, another candidate for the Brooklyn Jockey Club Handicap, does not look as if he were on the fine edge of his speed. I doubt very much that he will be at all dangerous in the race, and I fancy he will not be at his best until near the end of the Brooklyn meeting. Eurus will undoubtedly have a peep in at the handicap. Reports from Chesterbrook last week said the borse was much improved over his form of last year, and with a strong and capable rider he ought to be in the front rank at the fluish. I prefer Volante to him. Dry Monopole and Saxony have won hosts of admirers by their steady work at the Brooklyn track, but I am of the opinion that Elkwood, if he should start, will hold Saxony safe. He seems to be doing better work than Dry Monopole and he may take the place of the son of Glenelg and Poru in the handicap."

Conrad Huebschman, Jr., charged with assault to kill Detective Hobbs, was acquitted by the jury in the Oriminal Court yesterday afternoon. 'Sleepy' Burke, the burglar who was recently transferred from the jail to the Insane Asvium, es-caped from the latter institution yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Emma O'Rourke of 514 St. Anthony street took paris green yesterday afternoon because she had had some trouble with her family. She was given an emetic and saved.

SKIN, SCALP AND BLOOD Diseases Cured by Cuticura Remedies When Hot Springs, Doctors and

All Other Medicines Fail. All Other Medicines Fall.

Having been a sufferer for two years and a haif from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg, and having been cured by the CUTICUMA REMEDIES when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail, and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John P. Finlay to whom I shall ever feel grateful, spoke to me about CUTICUMA, and I consented to give them a trial with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my sufferings sprang from of any one in the State. The CUTICUMA REMEDIES are the best blood and skin cures manufactured. I refer to Druggist John P. Finlay and Dr. D. C. Montgomery, both of this place, and to Dr. Smith of Lake LEXANDER BEACH. Greenville, Miss.

by the dressed beef shippers with the Grand Trunk provides explicitly for such a contingency as has arisen, it being agreed by the Grand Trunk to permit a further rebate of 10 cents per 100 pounds if the other lines should cutrates.

The lines are drawn as tightly now as ever they were between the rivals of the dressed beef and live stock trades. The Pennsylvania and the New York Central are known to be very decidedly in favor of the live stock people. In the old light they were clearly on the live stock and now when that same light is revived they occupy their old position. It is declared by their representatives that neither the Grand Trunk nor any other road can make money transporting dressed beef from Chicago to the Atlantic seaboard for 45 cents a hundred weight, and the only reason they did not slash the dressed beef rate (65 cents) down below the Grand Trunk for its beginning the rate fight is to force a monopoly of the dressed beef business upon it at 45 cents. If this were strictly true, it is rather odd that the other roads deemed it needful to spend a whole day discussing the situation and worrying over it enough to order a cut in live stock rates from Scents down to 25.

THERE ARE INTIMATIONS

cussing the situation and work rates from a consult to order a cut in live stock rates from the central framework of the Grand Trunk's side in this controversy and all around entanglements of a lively character seem imminent. In the case of a further open cut by the Grand Trunk, or in the event of a strong presumptive evidence that a further cut has been made, it is believed by railway men that the Trunk lines pool would order a siashing of the present tariff after a more sweeping fashion even than the big cut of Thursday. The news of whatever happens, however, will in all likelihood reach New York by way of Chicago. There is where the contending dressed beef and live stock shippers are, and there is where east-bound rates are made.

Meanwhile a numerous force of workmen, under the direction of the architect, Mr. E. F. Baidwin, are pushing on the construction of the building with all possible rapidity. The erection of the cellar story is nearly completed, the joists of the entire lower floor will be in by the 24th, and a solid fleor laid on them for the occasion, will give a grand stand 266 feet long and about 50 feet wide, on which seats will be provided for 1,500 specially invited guests, the whole to be covered with a canvas awning forming an immense tent, suberbly adorned with American and papal flags.

THE HISTORY OF THAT PAPER for the past five years, if fully written, would be a history of every great movement in the country. New York, journalistically, was a very paper there has awakened, and all are imitating the World, striving vainly to regain the ground they lost.

The World's advance has not been altogether a matter of circulation, and yet the growth of its circulation is the basis of its prosperity. The total circulation for May, 1883, was 776,023. In June it increased to 922.

The New York World, that wonder of mod-ern journalism, celebrated on May 10, its fifth anniversary under its present management, and in the issue of that day is retold the story of its marvelous growth. No newspaper ever had such success. It rose from obscurity to the very height of popular favor. No news-paper has touched it in circulation or adver-tising. > There are more interesting figures which show how the World has advanced. Few persons are sware of the extent to which the Post-effice is used by the great newspapers of the country. They may be surprised to learn that in May, 1883, the World paid postage on 832,657 pounds of papers sent out by mail. That surprise would be emphasized when they learn that in 1844 postage was paid on 761,856 pounds of Worlds. By the time 1885 is reached wonder should take the place of surprise for the total pounds on which postage was paid was 1,418,140. Then wonder fades with the acknowledgment that anything great can be expected of the Worlds. Yet one would hardly expect to see the number of pounds sent by post increased te 1,650,029 in 1886; and 2,088,681 in 1857, and know that the post took 5,641,519 pounds of Worlds in the first quarter of 1888. Circulation and advertising represent income. Postage is an item of expense, but it is one of the smallest of such items. It has grown proportionately with the prosperity of the paper. So have all other items of expense. There were in 1883 but 162 persons employed by the World in 1884, to 838 in 1885, to 463 in 1896, to 670 in 1857 and to 847 in 1888. These numbers all exclude correspondents out of town and irregular contributors.

MUNICIPAL ASSEMBLY.

The Cab Bill the Special Order in the Council —The Heuse.

The session of the Council last evening was consumed by the discussion of the cab bill, which prohibits drivers from soliciting fares by driving around hotels and public places.

The Cabmen's Association asks that they be given suitable stands in the vicinity if they are not permitted to drive around depots, hotels, etc. The discussion was laid over until the next meeting.

The bill repealing the tax on midwives was passed.

makes a great newspaper. It was poor in circulation, poor in advertising, poor in character and poor in influence. A radical change was made by Mr. Pulitzer in men, methods and principles. He made a people's paper. Not much had been heard of the reformer in protector-politien inventionalism prior to that time.

In point of convenience and desirability for homes or investments or for future gains it is unsurpassed.

This fine tract of ground lies opposite the west gate of the beautiful Tower Grove Park.

Most desirable residence site in the city.

This place will be graded; full system of sewerage; streets to be macadamized, graveled and guttered; granitoid pavements; double row of trees to be planted on the streets; also over the lots, making a perfect park of it. The improvements when completed will cost $45,000.

This is the only suburban tract in the city that has the city improvements. City Gas, City Water, City Public School within one block of the property. City sprinkles in front of the property. Fare 4 cents to the City on the Oak Hill Railroad. Expect soon to have trains making hourly trips. Station within 1,200 feet of the property. Mr. Scullin expects soon to run to King's highway; expects soon to have his road running to that point with electricity. The city is now widening King's highway to 100 feet, with the intention of making a Grand Boulevard of it. When finished will be one of the finest drives

This property is very rapidly enhancing in value, which fact makes it a fine speculation to buy at present prices.
